

Galentine's Day Bingo Clues

1. At the age of 82, this lady is rockin' the black robes and lace doilies. She tied for first of her class at Columbia Law School in 1959. When asked when there will be enough women on the Supreme Court, she said "when there are nine." Ruth Bader Ginsberg
2. Born in 1744, this great woman was the wife of a president and mother of one. She wrote to her husband in 1776: "Remember the Ladies, and be more generous and favorable to them than your ancestors. Do not put such unlimited power into the hands of the Husbands. Remember all Men would be tyrants if they could." Abigail Adams
3. Bow down. Beyoncé
4. This powerful woman ruled the land and seas for 45 years. She stabilized a country rocked by religious and political turmoil for a decade. She was single and ready to mingle with her fellow royalty of sixteenth-century Europe. Elizabeth I
5. She was born into a peasant family, but rose to prominence in France. She helped the French armies of Charles VII during the Hundred Years War, but this "Maid of Orleans" was burned at the stake. Joan of Arc
6. She was shot by the Taliban. She won the Nobel Peace Prize, and is an advocate for education: "One child, one teacher, one book and one pen can change the world. Education is the only solution." Malala
7. This gal famously burst on the scene in 1989. She surrounds herself with her famous gal pals, epitomizing #squadgoals. She was the youngest person to ever write and sing a number one song on the Hot Country charts. Taylor Swift
8. She was the secretary to NAACP President E.D. Nixon. On December 1, 1955 she was arrested for not giving her seat to a white passenger on a Montgomery bus. She became a symbol of the Civil Rights Movement. Rosa Parks
9. The originator of the modern gal's "work uniform": "I have no dress except the one I wear every day. If you are going to be kind enough to give me one, please let it be practical and dark so that I can put it on afterwards to go to the laboratory." She was the first woman to win a Nobel Prize - and then won it again (the first woman to ever win it twice!). She developed the theory of radioactivity and died do to exposure to radioactive (she carried test tubes of radium in her pockets). Marie Curie
10. She was a graduate of Indiana University, and served as the Deputy Director of the Parks and Recreation Department of Pawnee, Indiana. She will probably become president in the future. "We need to remember what's important in life: friends, waffles, work. Or waffles, friends, work. Doesn't matter, but work is third." Leslie Knope
11. This lovely lady is a beloved author, and although never married, she wrote brilliantly on love and loss in England. She completed six novels. A favorite quote of hers: "What are men compared to rocks and trees?" Jane Austen
12. She was Chancellor of The College of William & Mary, after serving as the first woman on the Supreme Court. She was also inducted into the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame. Sandra Day O'Connor
13. Our very own Okie Olympian. This fierce female is the most decorated US gymnast, and a member of the Magnificent Seven - the US Women's Olympic Gymnastics team who won team gold in the 1996 Olympics. Shannon Miller

14. As we were wisely reminded in Princess Diaries, "No one can make you feel inferior without your consent." This lady was the niece of a president, and wife to one (her fifth cousin, once removed)! She was the US Delegate to the UN General Assembly from 1945-1952. Eleanor Roosevelt
15. She is a professor at Stanford and currently serves on the College Football Playoff Selection Committee. She was the first African American female to hold the position of Secretary of State, and also was National Security Adviser during President Bush's first term. She is also one of the first women to be admitted to Augusta National, a notoriously men's-only golf club. Condoleezza Rice
16. Called Janey by Lewis and Clark, this Shoshone woman led the Corps of Discovery through the territory of the Louisiana Purchase, all with a baby strapped to her back. Sacagawea
17. She is an advocate for mental health care, addiction care, the elderly, and education. She is a fashion icon, famously donning a FANTASTIC Alexander McQueen gown. She is mom to two darling heirs to the thrones. Princess Katherine, Duchess of Cambridge
18. She has a doctorate in physical chemistry, and in 2005, was appointed the first woman chancellor of Germany. In 2007, she was the president of the European Council, and basically runs Europe. Angela Merkel
19. This prima ballerina is the first African American to ever be principal dancer in the American Ballet Theater. Misty Copeland
20. This woman was 22 years old, a wife and mother, when killed in Carthage. She was martyred for her Christian faith, and it is recorded that she took "shining steps as the true wife of Christ, the darling of God." Perpetua
21. She was an abolitionist, one of only six woman delegates to the 1840 General Anti-Slavery Convention. She organized the Seneca Falls Convention for woman's rights. She said: "The world has never yet seen a truly great and virtuous nation because in the degradation of woman the very fountains of life are poisoned at their source." Lucretia Mott
22. She got her law degree from Harvard in 1988. This lady rocks a ball gown, and is pretty good at "mom dancing." She is an advocate for healthy eating, and our 44th president is married to her. Michelle Obama
23. This woman won "The Bachelor" of antiquity, becoming queen of Persia. She saved the Jewish people from destruction, and is commemorated on the holiday Purim. She was made for "such a time as this." Esther
24. She was a young mother who trusted God. And she was Jesus' mom. Mary
25. She was the first female vice presidential nominee. She as the US delegate to the UN Commission on Human Rights. Geraldine Ferraro